

JUNE 10TH - 17TH 2019

A VIEW OF ART & SCIENCE IN AMSTERDAM'S GOLDEN AGE

It is said that God created heaven and earth – except Holland. The Dutch people made that! The ingenious use of windmills, dikes and canals has created large flat and fertile areas that, for hundreds of years, have been cultivated with the most colorful flowers. This constant struggle with the sea has also created a fiercely independent people, who have left a mark on world history totally disproportionate to the size of their population.

Holland has also produced an exceptional number of world-class painters over the last few centuries: Rembrandt van Rijn, Frans Hals, Jan Vermeer, Jacob van Ruisdael, Aelbert Cuyp and, of course, Vincent van Gogh, to name a few. Many of their works are displayed in the national museums and galleries in Amsterdam and the surrounding countryside. The independent spirit of the Dutch people, combined with their thirst for exploration and their natural tendency to question the accepted societal norms of the period, also led them to embrace wholeheartedly the scientific renaissance that was making its way north through Europe at the time. Dutch physicist and astronomer Christiaan Huygens is renowned as a figure of this renaissance, as is Anton van Leeuwenhoek, who revolutionized the microscope and its use and was a contemporary and possible friend of Vermeer.

In June 2019 Gettysburg College will offer a unique opportunity to explore the intertwined nature of creative art and science in the Dutch Golden Age, from the comfort of a first-class hotel in the very heart of the city. Dr. Kay Etheridge will be your faculty host for this tour, and is excited to share what she has learned through her extensive research in Amsterdam.

Monday, June 10th - Departure from your chosen gateway city. Overnight: Plane

Tuesday, June 11th - Morning arrival in Amsterdam. Your flight will be met for transfer to our city-center hotel. After checking in, there will be time to unpack, relax and find some lunch at a local restaurant. This afternoon a local guide will introduce the highlights of the city – from a canal boat! Amsterdam was built around the network of canals that crisscross the city, providing a relaxing and unique way to see many of the historic sections of this beautiful city. After the canal tour we will meet up again for a glass of wine and conversation before dinner at the hotel. (D) Overnight: Amsterdam

Wednesday, June 12th - We begin the day with a walking tour of the historic canal district and visit a canal house museum (perhaps the Cromhouthuis). There are many “hidden jewels” to be seen, such as courtyards most tourists do not even know about. After a break for lunch, you will be free to visit one of the smaller museums in the area. Possibilities would include the Amsterdam museum, the Rembrandt house, or any of the other canal house museums, (e.g. the Van Loon or the Museum of Our Lord in the Attic). The latter reflects the history of when Protestantism ruled and some devout Catholics would build hidden chapels within their houses (more or less an open secret in ever-tolerant Amsterdam). This evening we will meet up again for a glass of wine and conversation before dinner with tips from Dr. Etheridge about what to look for the next day as you explore one of the top art museums in Europe. (B, D) Overnight: Amsterdam

Thursday, June 13th - We'll spend the morning at the Rijksmuseum, an architectural marvel and home to spectacular paintings by Vermeer, Rembrandt and countless others, as well as luxury goods collected over centuries (e.g. fabulous doll houses and model ships). We'll have lunch and a discussion in or near the Rijksmuseum (possibly a picnic in the nearby park). The afternoon is free for visits to the Van Gogh Museum or the Museum of Modern Art. Alternatively, you may want to stroll in the park, quench your thirst at the Heineken Brewery, or take advantage of the amazing shopping opportunities in Amsterdam (we can guide you to wonderful street markets, antiques and more). The evening is free for you to try some recommended restaurants or explore on your own. (B, L) Overnight: Amsterdam

Friday, June 14th - Free morning. You may wish to visit the Anne Frank museum (pre-booking required), explore historic houses of worship (e.g. the Portuguese Synagogue or the “old” church) or simply stroll along the canals. We'll meet up for lunch at an Indonesian restaurant near the Amsterdam zoo, and afterward, visit the Artis Library. The curator there; and Dr. Etheridge; will show you first editions of some amazing natural history books. Afterwards, you may wish to visit the zoo or nearby botanical garden. Both are marvelously landscaped and like much of Amsterdam, rich with history. The evening is free, but Dr. Etheridge will be available for an optional pre-dinner conversation over a drink if you wish. (B, L) Overnight: Amsterdam

Saturday, June 15th - We will travel from Amsterdam's Central Station (another architectural gem) about 20 minutes by train to Haarlem to visit the Frans Hals Museum. After lunch in the museum café and discussion of the works we have just seen we'll walk to the Teylers Museum, which is a small gem housing art, fossils and other science artifacts in an incredible building. Haarlem is charming and walkable with lovely shops and a significant historic church. You will then have free time for individual exploration, with the flexibility to return to Amsterdam by train at your leisure. The evening is free, but Dr. Etheridge will be glad to meet you at her favorite “brown café” near the hotel for Dutch beer (more than 100 kinds!) and light food if you like. (B, L) Overnight: Amsterdam

Sunday, June 16th - Free morning. This afternoon we will visit the popular Ship Museum, built in 1656 as a naval storehouse. Surrounded by water, it includes a visit onto a full scale merchant ship and engaging exhibits about the relationship of the Dutch to the sea; this is one of Dr. Etheridge's favorite museums! This evening we will gather for a farewell dinner at or near our hotel. (B, D) Overnight: Amsterdam

Monday, June 17th - This morning there may be time for some last-minute souvenir shopping before your transfer back to Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport for return flights to the USA, or continuation of your journey elsewhere. Overnight: Home

Key to included meals: B - breakfast, L - lunch, D - dinner

YOUR HOST, Dr. Kay Etheridge, is a Professor in the Department of Biology and Director of Advancing Science, the long-running precollege outreach program, at Gettysburg College. She is a co-editor of Brill's book series, the Emergence of Natural History, and a founding member of the Maria Sibylla Merian Society, for which she has co-organized two international conferences. Dr. Etheridge's publications on Merian, a 17th-century naturalist/artist, and related scholarship have led her to develop interdisciplinary courses at Gettysburg College, such as Exploration of the Marvelous: Art and Science in the Renaissance. Her research frequently takes her to rare book libraries and museums across Western Europe, and in recent years she has worked extensively in Amsterdam and other parts of The Netherlands. Based on this experience, Dr. Etheridge will contribute to the tour's exploration of the Dutch Golden Age and the interwoven nature of art, science and trade.
